

Vocabulary	Pronunciation	Meaning	Collocations	Examples
discrimination (n) [B2] (discriminate (v), discriminatory (adj), discriminated (adj/v))	/dɪˌskrɪmɪˈneɪʃn/	Sự phân biệt đối xử (The unjust or prejudicial treatment of different categories of people, especially on the grounds of race, age, or sex)	1. racial/gender discrimination – The company was sued for alleged gender discrimination in its hiring process. 2. face discrimination – Many minorities still face discrimination when looking for housing. 3. prohibit discrimination – Federal laws strictly prohibit discrimination based on disability.	1. The law forbids discrimination against employees. 2. She felt she was a victim of discrimination, so she filed a formal complaint. 3. Although progress has been made, discrimination persists in many modern workplaces. 4. Many activists argue that systemic discrimination remains a barrier to equality, and they are calling for legislative reform to address it.
overlook (v) [B2] (overlooked (adj/v), overlooking (v))	/ˌoʊvərˈlʊk/	Bỏ qua, lơ đi (To fail to notice something, or to ignore something intentionally;	1. overlook a mistake – It is easy to overlook a small mistake when you are in a rush.	1. Do not overlook the importance of sleep. 2. He worked harder than anyone, yet he also to not consider someone for a job or promotion)	2. be overlooked for – He was overlooked for the promotion despite his years of service. 3. overlook the fact – We cannot overlook the fact that the project is over budget.	was overlooked for the top position. 3. If you overlook these minor errors, the rest of the report is quite impressive. 4. Because the manager tended to overlook quiet employees, many talented people left the firm, and the company's productivity eventually suffered.

committed to (adj) [B2] (commit (v), commitment (n))	/kə'mɪtɪd tuː/	Tận tụy, cam kết (Feeling dedication and loyalty to a cause, activity, or job; wholeheartedly dedicated)	1. deeply committed to – The organization is deeply committed to protecting the environment. 2. remain committed to – Despite the setbacks, they remain committed to the peace process. 3. committed to excellence – Our	1. She is committed to her work. 2. The team stayed late every night, for they were committed to meeting the deadline. 3. Since he is committed to a healthy lifestyle, he exercises every morning. 4. If a company is truly committed to school is committed to excellence in education.	diversity, it must change its hiring practices, and it should support minority employees at every level.

transparency (n) [C1] (transparent (adj), transparently (adv))	/træns'pærənsi/	Sự minh bạch (The quality of being done in an open way without secrets, so that people can trust that things are fair and honest)	1. lack of transparency – The public criticized the government for its lack of transparency regarding the new tax. 2. improve transparency – New regulations were introduced to improve financial transparency. 3. demand transparency – Shareholders began to demand transparency from the board of directors.	1. We need more transparency in government. 2. The report lacked detail, so the citizens called for greater transparency. 3. Because the process lacks transparency, many people believe the results were rigged. 4. Unless the organization ensures full transparency, the public will lose faith in its mission, and donors will likely stop providing financial support. to some extent (phrase) [B2]	/tu: sʌm ɪk'stent/	Ở một mức độ nào đó (Used to say that	1. true to some extent – Your assessment of the situation is	1. I agree with you to some extent. 2. The plan worked something is partly, but not completely, true)	true to some extent. 2. agree to some extent – I agree with your proposal to some extent, but I have some concerns. 3. possible to some extent – Success is possible to some extent even without a large budget.	to some extent, but we still missed our primary goal. 3. Although the technology is useful to some extent, it cannot replace human intuition. 4. To some extent, the weather affected our travel plans, yet we managed to arrive on time, and the event was a great success.

driven by (phrase/adj) [B2] (drive (v))	/ˈdrɪvən baɪ/	Được thúc đẩy bởi, do... (Caused or influenced by something specific; motivated by a particular factor)	1. market-driven – The price of the product is largely market-driven. 2. driven by profit – Some critics argue the healthcare system is driven by profit rather than patient care. 3. driven by a desire – She is driven by a desire to help people in need.	1. Success is often driven by hard work. 2. The economy is slowing down, for it is driven by falling consumer demand. 3. Since the company is driven by innovation, they invest heavily in research. 4. Even though the project was driven by a noble cause, it failed due to poor management, and the investors eventually pulled their funding.

--	--	--	--	---